Final Notice

Journal of Health Politics, Policy and Law

plans to hold a conference on

HEALTH CARE REFORM Lessons from the Past, Prospects for the Future

May 1 and 2, 1992, in Durham, NC

This conference brings together a remarkable group of scholars and health policy analysts. Come and engage them in what is surely the hottest political issue of the year, as the conference moves beyond the usual discussions of tactics and public opinion polls to the key questions: What are the prospects of securing genuine health care reforms? And what are the prospects for making them work?

For a full list of speakers and topics, see p. 642 of this issue. To receive an information and registration packet, write to JHPPL Conferences, Box 3018 DUMC, Durham, NC 27710; or call Sauda Zahra at (919) 684-4188.
